

Planning, Designing & Constructing Police Facilities November 7-9, 2018

DALLAS, TX

Don't miss the opportunity to visit three new facilities!

A thorough seminar on important concepts and strategies that will help you plan your new facility.

This training course will arm you with critical data to begin your planning process.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

The course is appropriate not only for Police Chiefs, and their staff but would benefit city management or staff members that may need a more full understanding of the complexities of the process required to plan, design and construct a modern police facility.

WHAT IS DISCUSSED?

This three-day seminar will expose you to the process of planning for a new public safety facility. It will include discussions led by experienced police facility architects and owners/users of buildings. Tours of small, medium and large Dallas-area facilities are included, and will be led by the Police Chief/Staff involved with the entire process of their facility.

Learn valuable project management details such as:

- ◆ Writing an RFQ that helps identify qualified firms.
- ◆ Identifying typical project contracts.
- ◆ Working with an architect. What do they do?
- ◆ Establishing a preliminary size and cost of development.
- ◆ Determining a realistic timeline.
- ◆ Evaluating the pros and cons of renovation.
- ◆ Identifying and correcting common planning errors.

How many times have we heard “...this should be enough money to build a facility”? Learn how to gain political support for a needs assessment, how to establish a realistic game plan, and budget for your department's needs.

HOW TO REGISTER?

Go to the IACP Training & Meetings website to register.

“Police Facility Planning from the Police Perspective”
